

Bar El Sindicat Web

By Iván Menacho

Index

1. Introduction
2. Parts of the web
3. Conclusions

1.- Introduction

This project is the website of my family's bar in Spain. I thought about doing it because I think that making a website for my bar could be useful in different ways. Probably in the future, I'll make it functional and buy a domain from it.

2. – Parts of the web

The web consists of different parts, first we find the main page, then we will have different subpages in which we can see the menu, information about us and contact. In all of them you can log in or go to register. On the main page, we will also find the search engine that I have added to be able to go to the other subpages. We can register and later log in that will take us to the protected pages for the user in which, apart from the previous ones, we can order online (I have not made it functional) and modify our profile.

3.- Conclusions

Doing this work has been quite comfortable with the most basic things because I had already programmed many websites before, even so it has helped me a lot to learn and I have found interesting JQuery and the use of sessions, which I had not used before.